OFFICE ORDERS

To promote entrepreneurial mindset, innovation-driven start-ups, and industry-academia collaboration, the Entrepreneurship Development (ED) Cell is hereby constituted. This cell will play a crucial role in nurturing entrepreneurial skills, supporting business incubation, and providing mentorship to students and faculty interested in start-ups and business ventures.

Need for the Entrepreneurship Development Cell:-

In the evolving global economy, entrepreneurship and innovation have become key drivers of industrial growth and job creation. Engineering graduates must develop entrepreneurial thinking, business acumen, and problem-solving skills to become job creators rather than job seekers. The ED Cell will provide a structured platform to train, mentor, and support budding entrepreneurs through workshops, incubation programs, and funding opportunities.

Composition of the Cell:-

The following members shall constitute the Entrepreneurship Development (ED) Cell:
